

A Good Fit

Teaching with VHS Learning might be a good fit for you if...

You are passionate about expanding students' access to high-quality online courses

You enjoy communicating regularly with students to support their learning

You believe in providing thoughtful, corrective, and asset-based feedback to students to help them succeed

You are interested in meeting and working with students from diverse backgrounds, countries, and experiences

You feel confident with technology and communicating effectively online

You have strong time management skills

You want to expand and develop your teaching practice in an online format

You hold a content-specific high school level certification issued by your U.S. state's Department of Education

